

What is the CC20 Proposal Program?

At NEG, we have introduced a new initiative, called the CC20 Proposal Program, which we pursue together with current and potential business partners. The program encourages participants to suggest ideas for enhancing performance and efficiency throughout the supply chain.

We view the CC20 Proposal Program as a means of enhancing business relationships with our business partners and to assuring further growth, and we are eager to adopt proposals that benefit both our business partners and us.

We hope to attract suggestions that provide hints about how we can identify and overcome the challenges to greater product competitiveness, especially relating to pricing and costs.

We remain dedicated to building strong relationships, for mutual prosperity, with enthusiastic partners who share our vision and are prepared to consistently come up with ideas on how we can forge a way forward together.
